VIENNA BUFFET,

NO. 116 SOUTH MAIN STREET, (Adjoining Grand Opera House),

The result of our first week's business at FOPU-AR PRICES, far exceeds our expectations. A quare dealing drug store is something of a novelty ere in Los Angeles, but from the way the people rowd our store all day long, it seems that novel-les in drug dealing are as readily appreciated here as elsewhere,

But what makes us smile, is the frantic and doundering efforts being made by certain faking solutions to steal our thunder—mercantile parasites, who compete with every business house and sap the life blood of every business man, who select A FEW stricts from all lines and salling and sap the life blood of every business man, who select A FEW articles from all lines, and, selling them BELOW COST, charge the loss to advertising. These pirates have the insufferable gail to pose as the friends and champions of the "people," and try to make it appear that WE have been forced to break away from some alleged deep, dark and "damnable" conspiracy that has hitheric existed among the druggists of the town. Faking a few bottles of patent medicine below cost by "baxaar" concerns, who know no more about drugs than they do of honor and decency, will never reform the abuses in the drug business. What we started out to do, and WILL do, is to furnish DRUGS and MEDICINES at the same prices they are supplied at In New York and other Eastern cities. This policy has been in-augurated by the present management because it is good basiness policy to sail on as close a margin of profit as possible. If there is any such thing as a "UNION" to maintain high prices, as alleged, then so much the worse for the union. We are in the DRUG business, and in it to stay, our line of merchandise includes ONLY drugs, medicines and the accessories that legitimately belong thereto. We sell these goods far below the prices regularly charged in other drug stores, but we DO NOT SELL ANYTHING BELOW COST, to mislead the public. We shall allow the Meeting of the League at Boston.

George William Curtis Elected President for the Year.

The Executive Committee Increased by Four Members.

A Lengthy Report Submitted by the Committee on Resolution Some of the Reforms Suggested.

By Telegraph to The Times.

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] At a meeting of the General Committee of the National Civil Service League today, it was voted to increase the Executive Committee by four, and Edward Carey, Charles Collins and William D. Foulke of Indiana and Richard H. Dana of Cambridge were the new members elected.

At the business meeting there was a fair attendance of members and a few

Hon. George William Curtis was unanimously chosen president for the ensuing year. ensuing year.

Charles L. Bonaparte of Baltimore read a paper on the "Relation of Civil Service Reform to Other Reforms," in which he said it is the function of the civil service reform to provide for all other reforms. To expect to get solutions to such problems as tariff, currency and pension systems from such men as make up the bulk of either house of Congress, or to deal either house of Congress, or to deal wisely with the labor and liquor questions, through such men as make up our legislatures and city councils, is as irrational as to expect figs from thistles.

A long discussion was had upon the proposition to print different papers, some gentlemen taking exceptions to a portion of their contents and objecting to their going on record as apparently being sanctioned by the association.

A resolution was finally adopted that the Executive Committee be directed in preparing the papers for publication, to pre fix a note stating that the League is not responsible for the views therein expressed.

The Committee on Resolutions presented a lengthy sport, which was unanimously adviced. The League congratulates the country that the attempt to nullify the reform law during the presentation on was defeated in the House; that the law was defended by distinguished a smears of both particle. The League recognizes the first

It recalls with satisfaction, the action of the Attorney General in the action of the Attorney-General in sustaining the Civil Service Commis-sion, in revocation of appointments made in defiance of the reform law made in defiance of the reform law and the indictment of persons for receiving political contributions, the explanation of the Civil Service Commission before the House Committee, and congratulates the country upon the choice of commissioners by the present administration. for whatever advances that have been made, the League says it, is not necessary to remind the country that pledges made by the successful party at the last election have been disregarded and the reform system not been extended; the spirit and purpose of reform has not only not been observed in all executive departments, but offen violated. Laws at variance but often violated. Laws at variance with reform legislation have not been repealed, nor has there been any proposition for a repeal. Against thi the League records an unqualified pro-

The removal of postmasters for no other cause than political opinions or party affiliations, resulting in the parti-san devastation of important branches of the public service, is a breach of faith with the country and a grave offense against pure politics and the interest of efficient public service. The important duty of taking the census should have been committed to officers selected because of fitness, and with no regard to political or partisan considerations. The League urges the friends of reform to press upon the public attention and Congress the repeal of laws prescribing fixed terms of office, which were designated to facilitate partisan changes without the odium of express and positive removal. As a measure of relief from one of the worst and most widely diffused abuses of the spoils systems the League approves of the principles and objects of the bill introduced in Congress the presentsession, to regulateathe appointment of the friends of the spoils systems the League approves of the spoils systems the League approves for until pursuit. The bill was taken back to the signature of a promisal, and the company itself house today, however, a motion in the louse today, however, a motion in the busies today, however, a motion in the louse today, however, a motion in the lower for a reconsideration was adopted. The friends of the wishown to have been madein fullillment of a promise to Raum of the public service, is a breach of faith with the country and a grave offense against pure politics and the interest of efficient public service. The imporintroduced in Congress the presentses-sion, to regulateathe appointment of fourth-class postmasters by causing their selection to be made upon busitheir selection to be made upon business principles. In conclusion, the League declares that as the necessity for reform was never more urgent, the League will prosecute with unflagging energy its appeal to that matured opinion of the American people which reforms every abuse that menaces the welfare of the republic.

Several association reports were read.

Mr. Bonaparte spoke of the complete demoralization of the Republican party in Baltimore because of the distrinowledge of business required; $100 per cent. in maranteed, with prespects of 100 per cent. in the presence of the per cent. in that the delegates to the next Republican convention would be pledged against Harrison.

"It shows a healthy condition of the public mind of the people of the United States, when a senator has been literally roasted for declaring that morals and polities have no connection. Administrative Act.

Important Correspondence Concerning Manufacturers' Statements.

An Error in the Tariff Bill as Enrolled and Signed.

port of the Acting Governor Arizona-Decrease in the Pub-11c Debt-President Harrison's Nominations.

By Telegraph to The Times. WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.-[By the Assoclated Press.] Acting Secretary Batcheller has written the Secretary of State in regard to the question submitted to our Consul-General at London by the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of that city concerning manufacturers' additional statements required under the Customs Administrative act. It appears that the form of such statement, "No. 171," prescribed by the Treasury Department, provides for declaration by the manufacturer of merchandise, consigned for sale by him or his account to persons in the United States, showing actual cost of production and shipment itemized. The London Chamber of Commerce exclusive of Indians and military reservations and with those who live on reservations not Indians. The population of the Territory is probably 60,000, a gain in ten years of 19,560. The mining industry is reported to be in a more healthy condition than ever. But real attention is being paid to agriculture, owing to the productiveness of the lands. Owing to restrictive legislation in Idaho, and the probability of similar action in Utah, the acting Governor thinks the immigration of Mormous to Arizona will increase. The number of Mormons now in that Territory is estimated at one-fifth the population. The report states that unless restrictive measures are adopted the Territory will become Mormonized to such an extent as to seriously disturb the society and the affairs of the Government, and prejudice the Territory's chances for Statehood. He therefore recommends that Congress grant the same protection to Arizona as enjoyed by Idaho and that the Idaho test oath be made applicable to Arizona. The report says Arizona has quite a sprinkling of Mexicans among the people. A majority of them become naturalized citizens and are in sympathy with American laws and customs. There are few Chinese in the Territory as compared with the Pacific coast States, and as yet they cut no figure as a disturbing element, although they are very objectionable as a class, and their exclusion is much desired in Arizona as elsewhere. The acting Governor recommends that an enabling act for the admission of Arizona into the Union be passed by Congress; that all public lands within the Territory be donated to the Territory for school purposes, that the San Carlos Apaches be removed from the Territory and the reservation opened for settlement, that salaries of the present judges in Arizona be increased to five thousand dollars per year, and that the pay of legislators be increased to ton dollars per day. desires that, in lieu of the above declaration, our customs authorities accept the following declaration: "That for trade reasons I decline to give my consignee the particulars asked for, but am willing to give the same to the United States Consul-General for his personal satisfaction." It was represented to the Consul-General by the consignors that it is unfair to require them to give the consignees informaconsignors that it is unfair to require them to give the consignoes informa-tion as to the cost of production and all elements entering into such cost, and it is destructive of the natural laws of commerce and trade for them

"As the form of declaration prescribed by your (State) department is confined to particulars required by section 8 of the act of June 10, 1890, to be specified in the official statement of affairs, and as under the terms of that law such statement must be presented to the Collector of Customs by person, agent, partner or consignee, who must make the declaration prescribed by section 5 of the same act, that the invoice on or the same act, that the invoice on which he makes entry contains also just as faithful an account of all cost of finishing said goods, etc., this department is of the opinion that information as to actual cost cannot consistently, with the provisions of the signer and made the st dential communication

It appears an important omission was WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.-Judge Sawmade in the Tariff Bill as enrolled and Raum committee, stated tonight to an Associated Press reporter that he learned with surprise that the minority report had been given out. It was well understood by the committee that the evidence was not all in and the investigation not closed. Taking up all the allegations in the minority report one by one, Judge Sawyer said there was not one of the statements that he believed was borne out by the incomplete testimony. As to the list of stockholders, proof showed that Smyser subscribed alone for the ver, on behalf of the majority of the signed. THE BONDED DEBT It is stated at the Treasury Department the decrease in the bonded debt during the past month, viz., $42,316,240, was greater than in any month since the period of refunding operations under Secretary Sherman, the nearest approach to it being $26,593,830, in the month of October, 1888. The decrease in the bonded debt for the first nineteen months of the present administration is $205,714,410, an average monthly reduction of $10,827,074. To Strike Out for Trade of Her Own. HALIFAX (N. Sir John Thompson anof the majority with some hesitation because he did not understand that the investigation was yet closed, but as the minority had seen fit to make their nounced the present policy of the gov-ernment owing to tariff changes in the United States to be to subsidize fast steamship lines on the Pacific and At-lantic, thus giving Canadian people facilities for transporting their pro-duce and manufactures in a rapid manstatement public he thought it only proper to do so. SWEET WINE BILL.

Satisfaction Over its Passage on the Coast.

The wine men of Southern Califoris are happy over the passage of the Sweet Wine Bill, and Senator John Sherman is, in their estimation, the grandest man in the United States, for it was through his influence the bill passed. J. de Barth Shorb started this bill fifteen years ago, and he has been laboring with it ever since, but he could do nothing until Senator Sherman took hold and promised him that he would put it through. The bill will be the means of saving the bill will be the means of saving the wine menthousands of dollars a year in California. Under the old law wine-makers were compelled to pay duty on all brandy used for fortifying sweet wine, and last year when the revenue officers came out and announced that all wine men would have to live up to the law, quite a number of them had to go out of the business, as they could not stand the tax. Under the sweet-wine law they do not have to the sweet-wine law they do not have to pay duty on the brandy used in wine and they are confident now that they will be able to make the wine business a bigger success than ever before.

THE REPUBLICANS

Second Day of the County Convention.

Martin Aguirre Renominated Sheriff by Acclamation.

Meredith and Perry Defeated for Clerk and Assessor.

Ward and Gray Nominated in Their Place-Banbury Renominated for Treasurer and Seaman for School Superintendent.

The second day's session of the Re publican County Convention brought forth good results. Five nominees amed, as follows: For County Superintendent, W. W. Seaman; for heriff, Martin Aguirre; for County Clerk, T. H. Ward; for County Treas-urer, Jabez Banbury; for Assessor, F. Edward Gray. One ballot was taken to determine who the next Auditor will be, and the result was that Converse Howe of Pomona led with 117 votes. S. R. Maclay of San Fernando is the

When the clock struck 6 last evening almost every delegate in the conven tion were tired and weary, and those who were not were mad and despondent. So when a motion to adjourn for an evening session was made it was voted down. The delegates then agreed to take a rest until 9 o'clock this morning, when they will reassem ble and endeavor to complete their labors.

In one sense, the result of yester day's balloting was really surprising. The defeat of James Meredith for County Clerk was not looked for by many of the gentleman's friends, but it was nevertheless accomplished. The was nevertheless accomplished. The country voted almost as a unit against Mr. Meredith, and he did not receive the support it was supposed he would from the city.

Pasadena, with her 25 votes, Pomona with her 15, the First Ward and the Sixth Ward, it is said, voted as a unit against the present incumbent of the County Clerk's office. The result was his defeat.

Another surprise was the fact that the contest over the nomination for Assessor was settled on the second ballot. It was thought by many that this fight would tie up the convention for some time. But it turned out that the country came almost solidly to the support of Capt. Gray, and that strength, coupled with about fifty votes he received from the city, gave him the nomination. Capt. Gray's friends were themselves surprised at the showing he made, but they were likewise gratified.

The convention yet has nine county offices for which it must name nominees, independent of the candidates who must be named (and the candidates) nees, independent of the candidates who must be named for the township offices, supervisors and two city justices. This being the case, it looks very much as though the body would not adjourn sine die before Saturday. The following is the order in which the remaining candidates will be nominated: Audit District Attorner Record

THE CONVENTION.

The hands on the dial of the clock in Turnverein Hall lacked just ten min-utes of reaching the Roman numeral X when Chairman Henry T. Gage called the Republican County Convention to order yesterday morning. Although the hour set for convening was 9:30, it took most of the delegates a little longer to partake of breakfast and withstand the attack of candidates while en route to the hall than had been counted upon. At 9:30 not fifty delegates were in their seats, but later they came straggling in, some wearing 'they had been called for and couldn't come.

JUDGE CHENEY WITHDRAWS. At this point R. H. F. Variel took the floor and withdrew from the consideration of the convention the name of Judge W. A. Cheney. He thanked the delegates and friends of Judge Cheney who had so loyally supported him in and out of the convention, in behalf of the judge.

Delegate Mulford had an eye to business about this time, for he moved that the Chair appoint four additional tel-lers, whose duty it should be to receive the ballots from the receiving tellers and canvass the result without waiting until the entire vote was cast.

The object of this motion was to expedite the balloting as conducted under the "Murphey system," and it was seconded by the now famous originator of the system himself, "Mr. Murphey of the Sixth."

The motion met with the most wel-come approval of the delegates and was adopted.

The Chair thereupon appointed the following tellers: A. N. Hamilton and L. N. Dennick from the city and C. I. Lorbeer and J. C. Shever from

While the four additional tellers were being selected, Mr. McLain of Pasadena arose and stated that he de-sired to deny a rumor in circulation to the effect that W. S. Wright had with-drawn from the race for Superior Judge. He informed the convention that Mr. Wright was in the race, and furthermore, he proposed to stay in until it was settled. BALLOTING BEGINS.

The third ballot for superior judges then commenced. The secretary read off the precincts and the number of

As soon as the result was announced, Dr. Walter Lindley arose and stated that, as he had voted for Mr. Holton, he would move a suspension of the rules that B. N. Smith might be nominated by acclamation.

This idea struck the convention favorably, as the motion of Dr. Lindley met with about ten seconds from the friends of M. T. Allen, G. M. Holton and W. S. Wright. It was adopted unanimously.

MR. SEAMAN RENOMINATED. The next order of business being the omination of a candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction, T. J. Carron took the platform and placed in nomination W. W. Seaman. Mr. Carran stated that Los Angeles county had, among other things, the finest school system in the world. He referred to the excellent record Mr. Seaman had made during the four years he had filled the office, and placed him before the convention as the only applicant for the office.

A gentleman from El Monte seconded the nomination of Mr. Seaman. Dr. D. Granville MacGowan moved that the rules be suspended and that Mr. Seaman be nominated by acclamation. The rules were suspended by a unanimous vote and Mr. Seaman was then nominated by acclamation. tendent of Public Instruction. T. J.

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: In my boyhood days when I left my home on the Atlantic shore and came to the Pacific slope one of the first men that I met was Thomas B. Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: There has already been manifested here a disposition to break slates and to put on the ticket only representative men. Stimulated by this sentiment, and at the earnest solicitation of many citizens, both in the county and in the city, I arise to place in nomination a man whom I have known since my beyhood. He has occupied several official positions and has always acquitted himself well and made a good officer. I name for the office of County Clerk, T. H. It began to look as though Mr. Meredith was not going to be put in nomination at all. The hat, as soon as a number of votes had been deposited, was passed to the counting tellers on the platform and enumerated. In this way a long and tiresome delay was avoided.

While the vote was in progress the circus parade passed, and a general rush was made for the door by delegates and spectators alike. The Chair rapped for order, and confusion reigned supreme for a time. Mr. Gage finally directed that the doors be closed in order to retain within the confines of the hall the curious delegates.

The afternoon session of the convention was called to order at 2:15. The delegates were nearly all in their seats pearance, indicating that they were rapidly becoming weakened by their laborious efforts of the morning and night previous.

As soon as order had been secured Chairman Gage surprised the delegates by introducing to them "the next Lieutenant-Governor of California, John B. Reddick."

At this announcement the conventon broke out in applause that lasted for several minutes. Three ringing cheers and a tiger were given by the delegates for Mr. Reddick. The gentleman then stopped to the front of the platform, and in substance delivered the following address:

For over twenty years I have attended conventions and been a delegate. Take my advice. Make your ticket and then go out and stand by it. And above all, I want to urge you Republicans of Los Angeles to stand by and work for your State ticket. This last remark of the Senator's was loudly applauded.

Finally the Chair rapped for order, and asked, "Is there a candidate for Assessor of Los Angeles county? If so, will some gentleman place him in nomination?"

No one responded with an offer of a candidate, and after waiting for several minutes the chairman said: "As there are no candidates for Assessor, we will pass to the next order of business and proceed to nominate a candidate for Auditor." Just at this time Judge Fitzgerald arose and asked the Chair if it would be in order for him to place in nomination a candidate for Assessor. He was informed that it would. The judge therefore presented to the convention for Assessor the name of Thomas A. Lewis in about the following werds:

sessor the name of Thomas A. Lewis in about the following werds:

THOMAS A. LEWIS NOMINATED.

Mr. Chairman and gentlemen: I desire to place before this convention the name of a gentleman who I think can acceptably if not ably fill the office of County Assessor. I have perhaps already talked more in this convention anyone else and have taken up more time than should be allotted to any one individual. But, gentlemen, I am peculiarly circumstanced, because of the fact that I have so many personal friends before the convention. I have already placed in nomination several warm friends and I am now about to perform a similar duty for another. I am willing always to sacrifice myself for the interests of my friends.

I now appear before you to place before you for your consideration for the important office of Assessor one of the honored and respected citizens of Los Angeles. He is a man of affairs, and has large interests here. During his residence on this coast his every act has been to promote the interests and prosperity of Southern California. He is a tried and true Republican, and not a Republican of yesterday, He comes from Kentucky, where, from infancy, he imbibed those principles which make the Republican party the party of human liberty. After he attained his manhood he became an active party worker, and when he left the States was the chairman of the Excentive Committee of the Republican party of this man is ramiliar to every Republican in the county and his nomination will do much to solidify the party in the sounty, in fact I regard it as a political necessity. I mean Thomas A. Lewis of this city.

Mr. PERRY'S CAPACUTY.

MR. PERRY'S CAPACITY. W. H. Thomas of the Second Ward placed in nomination S. M. Perry, chairman of the Board of Supervisors. Mr. Thomas thought that the positi on of Assessor was the most important in of Assessor was the most important in the county, and that Mr. Perry was the man te fill it, for the reason that he knew the value of property from one and of the county to the other. Mr. Perry, the speaker said, had lived here for twenty years, and had earned his living by the sweat of his brow during all that time.

This position requires a man of incorruptible character and of unblemished reputation. All the gentlemen who have been presented to you are my warm personal friends. But thus far I have exercised my best judgment to name a strong ticket regardless of personal feeling.

The man I am about to nominate was a private at 18, and a captain in the Union army at 22. He served throughout the war with honor and distinction. Sixteen years ago he came to Los Angeles county. This was then the banner Democratic county of the State. He worked with me in the long years ago for the success of the Republican party when we were in a hopeless minority. He bought a farm near Alhambra, which was then a barren desert, and he has made the once arid acres blossom. He is familiar

The attempt to drag the G. A. R. into the convention proceedings yester-day was, to say the least, in question-able taste. The Grand Army is a non-political body and it is against the laws of the organization for it to take any part in politics as a body.

H. A. Barclay made quite a long speech yesterday, nominating Capt. Gray for Assessor, but started to leave the stage without naming his man. He was prompted, however, in time to save himself. Why don't delegates learn to name their men in the outset of their able orations?

When Martin Aguirre was nominated yesterday a country delegate arose and said that the gentleman's nomination would be eminently satisfactory to the stock-raisers of the county. Martin and his deputies permitted no cattle or horse thieves to alip through their fingers.

"Brooker of Artesia" stated yester-day that while he was a soldier him-self he did not come into the conven-tion asking anything for anybody on that ground. He claimed that old soldiers, true veterans, did not come into political conventions as objects of charity.

A Remarkable Test of Animal Magnetism

mulgated his fantastical theories and practices of animal magnetism and turned the heads of half the people in France, the world has had an unsolved problem to work upon and has never lost sight of its task. Science, quite in conformity with usage, set out by denouncing mesmerism as a humbug pure and simple, but has finally wound up by accepting the principle of animal magnetism, under another name of its own coining-hypnotism.

Everybody now-a-days has read of the astonishing feats of hpynotism, but few have witnessed such a trying test of it as was given yesterday by Dr. G. T. Mohn in the presence of William Lundberg the electrician and a representative of THE TIMES. Miss O., a young woman of Spanish birth, had been the victim of an ulcerated tooth for some days and had decided to have it removed. Being a long-time patient of Dr. Mohn and long-time patient of Dr. Mohn and having proven a good subject for hypnotization, she wished to be placed under the magnetic influence, in order that she might be spared the pain of the operation.

About 11 o'clock yesterday morning Miss O. took a seat in the operating chair of Dr. Swift, a dentist whose office is in the Allen block, corner of Spring and Temple streets. She was suffering considerable pain and was in a very nervous condition, but seemed perfectly willing to subject herself to the fectly willing to subject herself to the nervous condition, but seemed perfectly willing to subject herself to the operation.

As a preliminary, Dr. Swift took one of his little probes and prodded around the ailing tooth in that fiendish way which dentists have, until he touched the nerve — with the usual result. Then he examined the teeth of the upper jaw, and by the time he had got through he had stirred up several other evil-disposed molars, bicuspids and incisors, and the whole row of them set to aching until a couple of big tears of misery stood in the poor girl's eyes. The pain was not inflicted wantonly, it may be said, but as a necessary measure to determine the condition of her teeth.

"I'll soon stop all that," said Dr. Mohn, as he stepped to the back of the operating chair, while the dentist temporarily suspended operations.

Dr. Mohn is a rather tall, well-formed man, with a bearing which suggests at once a soldier and a scholar. With a thoughtful, serious cast of countenance, he has the unmistakable marks of a man of equable temperament, strong will and magnetic force. His hair and rather ample moustache, originally dark, are rapidly turning to iron gray and his eyes abade off from

His hair and rather ample moustache, originally dark, are rapidly turning to iron gray and his eyes shade off from blue to brown.

Dr. Mohn having doffed his coat to give him greater freedom of action, reached around the lady's head on both sides, and, laying the tips of his fingars upon her chin stroked backward gently along the jaw to the base of the ears. At the conclusion of each double pass he snapped the fingers and thumb of each hand quickly and then repeated the movement. Not many passes had been made until the observers could note that the skin on the side of the lady's face began to be suffused as though by accelerated circulation. In about two minutes the lady said, "Well, the pain is all gone, anyway."

"Certainly," said the doctor, "that was a foregone conclusion; it had to stop."

Then he proceeded to chat pleasantly Then he proceeded to chat pleasantly with his subject and with others in the room while he continued his manipulations. "My object," he explained, is not to put the subject to sleep and thus deaden all consciouness, but I wish to produce local anesthesia—in other words to suspend the sensibility of the nerves of the jaw, and, in fact, to cut off their communication with the brain, while leaving all of the other faculties active. For this reason I continue my manipulation rather long because I wish the effect to be deep and certain. No, I do not attempt to follow the course of the not attempt to follow the course of the nerves in my movement. In fact the operation is more one of the will than of physical contact. I simply will that the nerves of the face be insensible, and the movement of my fingers is in accordance with this will and as an accessory in fixing my mind on a man docessory in fixing my mind on a man docessory in fixing my mind on a man accessory in fixing my mind on a man acces in accordance with this will and as an accessory in fixing my mind on the subject. There undoubtedly is magnetism in the finger tips, but this is not the coutrolling force. A person may be magnetized without physical contact at all."

As the physician drew his fingers up the sides of the lady's face and pressed on her temples her eyes began to droop.

on her temples her eyes began to droop.

"No, don't go to sleep," he said, addressing his patient. "I don't want you to go to sleep" and he made two or three quick upward passes in front of the eyes and forehead, without contact. In an instant Miss O. was as wide awake as ever.

Then Dr. Mohn took a sharp pointed needle and reaching down without attracting his patient's attention, punctured lightly the skin on the side of the jaw.

"Do you feel it?" he asked.

"Feel what?" she rejoined, not know-that he had done.

"Do you feel it?" he asked.

"Feel what?" she rejoined, not knowing what he had done.

Then he thrust the needle quite through the skin, drawing forth a tiny drop of blood, but there was no movement of a muscle to indicate that it produced a tinge of pain.

After thoroughly anæsthizing the jaw (the process occupying about four minutes.) Dr. Mohn commanded the patient to open her mouth widely and keep it open and to close her eyes, but not to go to sleep. Then he motioned to the dentist to begin operations.

Dr. Swift took up his little probe and inserted it into the cavity of the ailing tooth, apparently without exciting any sensitiveness. Then, laying hold of his lancet, he cut the gums away from the tooth and with his forceps deftly extracted it. There was not a twitch of a muscle in the lady's face, not a sign of exclamation or outcry—in fact nothing to show that she was sensible of pain.

Another test was performed in this way: Dr. Mohn took from his pocket a sliver half dollar and, laying it on the back of his patient's hand, traced an outline of its periphery with a soft pencil. Then he magnetized the skin within the circle so that it was not sensible to the prick of a pin, while all around this spot the normal sensitiveness prevailed.

Dr. Mohn continued at some length to detail wonderful effects which he had accomplished by hypnosis, including a number of experiments that are familiar to those who are posted on this subject. Dr. Mohn, however, gave some other tests which were quite remarkable. By manipulating one finger of his subject and straightening it out he made it perfectly rigid, so that she could not bend it when commanded to do so—could not, in fact, flox it by using her other hand in the effort; but she complained of pain in the muscles of the hand and wrist when attempting to do so.

The detectives are of the opinion that if they can find her she is liable to throw some light on Dunn's disappearance. It is not believed now that the young men left the city together.

THAT was a safe and a sound rule of famous Davy Crockett's: "Be sure you're right and then go ahead." It is a rule which the Republican County Convention can well afford to adopt for the remainder of its session. As we have said the personnel, temper and tendent of Schools is W. W. Seaman of methods of the convention are such as | Santa Monica (the incumbent,) who to doubtless produce, a good ticket on the whole. Yet we do not expect the given a renomination by acclamation body to avoid mistakes entirely. One and unanimously. reason for this is the fact that not a few of the aspirants for nomination are not thoroughly wellknown to the delegates, so many of whom are new at the business. We do not undertake to say that the convention's work thus far i free from errors. In the case of Mc-Kinley for judge, we hold that a substitution could have been made with advantage to the judiciary, to the party and to the people. Such a man for instance, as Judge Alexander and ballot, overcoming S. M. Perry. Campbell, or any one of several other Thomas A. THE CONVENTION'S WORK THUS FAR.

The action of the Republican County Convention thus far shows a distinct disregard of leaders and bosses of all kinds and character in city and country. The personnel of the convention is generally good, though we can not say that it is superior to that of other Republican conventions, which have been held in the county; but that quality shows itself more distinctively in the present body. That the convention shows the personality of its membership more strongly and clearly than previous conventions is certain, and the reason for this is obvious. It is the secret ballot. This system, in a body of the size of this convention is slow, cumbersome and laborious, but it has such clear advantages in eliciting an expression of the real will of each delegate, that the drawbacks to the plan are more than counterbalanced by its advantages, and the scheme is therefore to be commended in Republican conventions, whose highest aim should be to reflect the popular will. As famous Grant said: "The will of the people is the law of the land," and the convention that most reflects the sentiment of the constituencies which form it is the convention that will secure the largest following from its own political side. A notable feature of this convention s the number of new faces seen in it. In many places there seems to have been an almost entire new deal in the matter of selecting delegates. This is notably true of the country, but it is also true of the city to a considerable extent. In one ward it is said the delegation is composed of men, none of whom, with a single exception, were ever before members of a political convention. Another notable feature is the strength, aggressiveness and apparent unification of the country delegates. who, having learned the powers they possess, have shown themselves disposed to take the bit in their teeth and exercise that power with no little reso lution and independence. The result a general overturning of "plans," a heartless disturbance of grammes," and a general smashing of 'slates." All of which has the effect of setting back a good many men who supposed themselves to be leaders chastening their spirits and causing their able countenances to be "sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought."

The Soldiers' and Sailor's League, secret organization of veterans with political aims, with a representation of some forty delegates in the convention, acting in conjunction, apparently, with the delegates from outside the city, is wielding no little strength. This body will doubtless succeed in securing a fair representation for the veterans upon the ticket, which is right and proper, everything else being equal. The right of the veterans to organize for political purposes cannot be disputed, so the Grand Army. as a body, cannot be dragged into the arena of politics and office-seeking. The tendency in this direction.

wherever it appears, should be promptly discouraged by comrades, for if the bone of contention—politics is suffered to enter the official ranks of the Grand Army, it will be "split wide

The convention, after a slege of two days, has reached about the middle of ts mission, having made nine of the wenty-one nominations.

The nominees, thus far, include four superior judges-Clark, Shaw, McKinley and B. N. Smith, all of Los Angeles-the first three being renominations, and the latter a new man, who has, however, a judicial reputation brought from another State. He is practicing attorney and a veteran of the war, who has resided in Los Angeles some years. The nominee for Sheriff is Martin ment of particular ends in politics are G. The nominee for County Clerk is Trowbridge H. Ward of Los Angeles. who is thoroughly well-known in the city and county, he having acceptably discharged various official and other business trusts and being now the efficient secretary of the Board of Trade. His nomination may be set down as one of the surprises of the convention. of which more are in store. Up to within a day or two of the assembling of the convention, Mr. Ward was not known as a candidate and it was believed that James M. Meredith (the incumbent by appointment.) would have a clear field and an easy race. But working against him appears to have been something of that indefinies, and he was overcome Mr. Ward on the first ballot, which was World's show, and we think we inated by a large majority. The succeed. favorite of so many, causes many pangs of regret. He accepts the result loyally however. He was defeated by a well-equipped man, though a less

DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

The next most important nomination to be made is that of District Attorney. There are at least four candidates for the position. The convention will be fortunate if it unites upon a man possessing the availability, the proved honesty, the tried integrity and the magnificent courage of Jesse Hardesty. He was a private soldier record on the "rough edge of battle," which has gone into history alongside the records of the most gallant of the battalions of any army in any country. vicious elements—the criminal classes, the law-deflers and the law-breakersare against Hardesty. For this reason, if for no other, the law-abiders and the law-enforcers ought to be for him. It may be that he will not be "in it;" it may be that the convention will decide upon another; but, if so, we urge upon that body-and it is our right and our duty to do this-that it endeavor to combine in the person of its nominee the attributes and qualifications for a prosecuting officer which we have outlined above. We need not dwell upon the imperative necessity which xists in this city and county for the regeneration of the District Attorney's ffice and the giving to it of a capable head. All citizens who desire to see the laws enforced and criminals brought to justice, recognize the urgent necessity for securing efficiency in this important office. The Republican convention has it in its power to meet or disappoint the just expectation of the people.

THE FARMER AND TAXATION.

One of the most noteworthy political signs of the times in the United States s the restlessnes and dissatisfaction which is everywhere shown by the community. The farmers farming have hitherto been counted as the most eliable supporters of one or other of he great political parties, but the time his bonds, or as interest in advance, but the farmer has nothing but his crop to fall back on, and he has to sell that for whatever the speculator is willing to pay. Appropriations are freely made for rivers and harbors, or to help manufacturers, but the farmer, whose industry is the foundation of all our put off with fair words. Small wonder then, that the Farmers' Alliance is rapidly becoming a power which politicians of both parties regard with In its issue of Sunday last, the Sacramento Record-Union contained a noteworthy editorial, in which the attention of the candidates for Governor was called to the live issues of the day relating to State government-issue which that journal claims have hitherto been overlooked in campaign arguments. The Record-Union shows that the mortgages on the real estate of California are increasing at an alarming ratio. In 1880, the total mortgage on real property in the State was $93.811.171. In 1889 it had risen to $145,878,988, an increase of about $52,000,000 in eight years. This increase is steadily going forward.

It is then shown how the proportion of the burden of State taxation borner by the land has steadily increased: by the land has steadily increased:

During the decade from 1860 to 1870 the percentage of personal property found on the assessment roll was an average of about 46 per cent. In 1861 it reached 49.62 per cent., that is to say, in 1861, of every one hundred dollars upon the assessment roll, $49.62 represented personal and $50.38 represented real property. Thus the burden of twation upon the two classifications.

is paying about $19,000,000, and the personal property about $3,000,000. The charge of $12.000,000 for mort- Funeral Directors' Association today gages brings the total annual burden adopted resolution expressing on real estate to $31,000,000.

Further, it is shown that the manu factures of the State are at a stand still, nearly all the woolen manufac turies of the State having closed last year. The real estate is threatened with further increase of burdens in the shape of mortgages and taxation. These are weighty statements and de serve attention. Undoubtedly, the tendency has been of late years, to throw too much of the burden of taxation on the farmer. His industry is the most important and the most beneficial of any. If favoritism is to be shown, it should be to him, not to the speculator or capitalist. As it is, the in the Union army, belonging to an hard-working farmer, who cannot Ohlo regiment which made for itself a hide the evidences of his toil and frugality, is taxed extra, to make up for the greed and selfishness of those who have more than they know what to do with. One thing is certain, the last report of the Assessor of Los Angeles county, the total valuation of all property was given as over $100,000,000. of which only $146,750 was money Yet, at the same time, the banks of the county returned their cash assets at $5,280,879.

Is it not about time that a little justice should be done to the tillers of the soil? AGAIN the Apaches are murdering white men in New Mexico. The troops are in pursuit, but, as usual, the Indians escape them. Settlers are threatening, if the Government does not stop these annual raids of a few renegades, to organize themselves into companies and exterminate the savages. There would be very little criticism of their action, should they do [so. These periodical carnivals of bloody murder in Arizona and New Mexico on the part of the Nation's pampered wards, are enough to inspire a spirit of vengeance in the heart of a quaker. For a quarter of a century the white settlers of the two Territories have endured these outrages, and it is small wonder that their patience is almost exhausted. Unfortunately for themselves, they have no vote in Congress, but this is no reason why they should be murdered with impunity.

ROBINSON'S CIRCUS. The advent of the circus is a red-letter day in the history of numberiess small boys and girls, not to mention the older folks who go to take care of the young olive branches, and also to renew, the pleasure of their never-to-be-forgo-ten youthful experiences. Then the crowd is swelled by a large contingent who think that the atmosphere of a theater breeds contamination, but that the convas covering of the circus encircles only an instructive exhibition of wild animals, the inspection of which may be lawfully accountained by the sight of the actions companied by the sight of the actions of the trained animals in the ring. There seems to be some potent spell in the announcement of a circus that draws all sorts and conditions of men, and women too. Hard times are forgotten and the hard-won dollar is cheerfully disbursed for the indulgence in an hour or two of the gilded delights and the equine displays of the circus ring.

for the indulgence in an hour or two of the glided delights and the equine displays of the circus ring.

The crowd at John Robinson's two shows yesterday was something enormous, the vast tent with its three rings in simultaneous action being thronged to its fullest capacity. At the afternoon performance the receipts were over $7000, and the night receipts could have been no less, judging from the great gathering assembled. The old school of circus frequenters prefer the one ring, where a single performance at a time engages the attention, but the modern practice is to compress the largest quantity of amusement into the limited space of time and let the spectator take his choice of what he chooses to watch. The whole entertainment furnished by the John Robinson circus, while it is in no way different in kind to that furnished by any other first-class circus, is yet exceedingly good of the kind, and probably is not excelled, or even equaled by any traveling combination today. The amount of money spent on this show and the crowded audiences at the Operahouse this week seem to indicate that times are not as hard as some people maintain.

Robert Ray Hamilton's Will.

Robert Ray Hamilton's Will. one hundred dollars upon the assessment roll, $49.02 represented personal and $50.35 represented real property. Thus the burden of taxation upon the two classifications of wealth was about equally divided. In that year the rate of State taxation was 60 tents on each one hundred dollars. The argregate of assessable property was $174-104,355. In 1890 the total assessed value of property in California was about $1,200,000,000,000,000 or equal to seven times the argregate of 1861, and the rate of taxation is 72.2 cents on the hundred dollars. Or to state this in a different form, with seven times the assessed value of property in the State, the rate has increased from 60 cents one each one hundred dollars to 72.2. If the rate had remained the same as in 1861-it would have been equivalent to seven times 60 cents or $4.20 on the hundred, on the basis of governmental expenditures in 1861.

Thus, the real estate is carrying 85 per cent. of the burden of government, and the wealth represented by personal property is in hiding. Again, the cost of the State, county and municipal governments of the State has been ascertained to be $22,000,000 per annum. Of this sum, the real estate is paying about $19,000,000, and the personal property about $3,000,000. NEW YORK, Oct. 2.-J. C. O'Con-

nteresting Meeting of the Ladies Foreign Missionary Society Last Evening-Addresses and Papers-Notes.

The Los Angeles Baptist Association ontinued its sessions at the Central Church yesterday. During the morning the report of the Committee on Publication was presented, after which Rev. J. H. Garnett addressed the asociation on "Religious Literature," and Rev. G. S. Abbott, D. D., delivered an address on the A. B. Pub. Society.

During the afternoon reports of various committees were presented and miscellaneous business was transacted, after which foreign missions were discussed. A devotional and song service followed, after which there were several addresses on the young people of the church.

The evening session was devoted to a women's missionary meeting, when the church was well filled, a large number of ladies being present. The evening was devoted to the work of the Ladies' Foreign Missionary Society. Mrs. Charles Button, the president of the society, occupied the chair.

After singing "At the Cross," the audience listened to the reading of the scripture lesson, which was given by audience listened to the reading of the scripture lesson, which was given by Mrs. Jackson of Los Angeles. A prayer followed by Mrs. J. F. Merriam of Santa Ana. The congregation joined in the hymn "I Know that My Redeemer Liveth."

Mrs. Baldwin of Los Angeles then delivered the address of welcome, It was short but effective. The visitors were assured that their co-workers in Los Angeles received them with open hearts and arms and would do all in their power to continue the good work. Mrs. J. W. Dorsey of San Francisco replied in a brief speech. She told of the work which the society now had in hand, notably the sending out of four hand, notably the sending out of four missionaries supported by the organization. One of these is to depart on the 9th of this month. She closed by urging pastors, the superintendents of Sunday-schools and the ladies of the churches to feel a deeper interest in the work of women for women, Mrs. Dr. Bryan of Downey then read a paper on "Woman's Mission." She said that while woman may not occupy an exalted position in the affairs of the an exalted position in the affairs of the world, yet by her love and sympathy she accomplishes great work in the home and elsewhere. She said that there is now more than ever a need for earnest, intelligent, Christian women. After a recitation ("The Changed Cross,") by Miss Rose Harben, the ladies gave way to Dr. Reed of Los Angeles and Dr. Button of Riverside, who resumed the work of soliciting who resumed the work of soliciting subscriptions for the Baptist Univer-sity. They succeeded in raising in cash and pledges over seven hundred dollars.

The programme of the evening was resumed and Mrs. Charles Button of Riverside read a paper on "Home Missions in Southern California" during the last ten years. She first gave a general review of the work of the Home Missionary Society throughout America and then told of the remarkable growth of the work in Southern California in the last few years.

Mrs. Ella Miller of Santa Ann made a few remarks on the large results obtained by a great multitude of small gifts.

A Wolf in Sheep's Clothing.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 2.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] I desire to call attention to the fifth plank in the socalled Nationalist political platform, upon which they have put a candidate upon which they have put a candidate for Congress, with the expectation that laboring men, Farmers' Alliance, trades unionists and the dissatisfied generally will fall into the artfully-laid trap and vote with them.

Said plank reads as follows:

"That life be regarded as more sacred than property and that neither the Government nor private citizens—be allowed to retain in their employ armed bedies of men to take life for the purpose of defending property.

If the quintessence of anarchy is not contained in that declaration, there is no such a thing as anarchy. A government without power to protect itself and property cannot protect itself and property cannot protect its citizes, in fact, is no government at all, which is just what anarchy means. Under such a condition of affairs as this would lead to, no man could obtain or hold property unless he was the strongest or best armed, the old feudal system would be the rule, society be divided into bands, who would be a law unto themselves, and "survival of the fittest" become the rule. be a law unto themselves, and "survival of the fittest" become the rule. If that doctrine voices that of the Nationalists, it is well that it comes to the front at first; the life of the party will be short, if not, then the quicker true, thoughtful, earnest men get out of the Nationalist camp, and purge themselves of any taint or suspicion of anarchy the better for them. To say that the Government shall not employ force, is to say we shall have no government but that of the individual himself, that he must protect his own property, the city must disarm her police, the State her militia, the nation her soldiers. No anarchist ever desired anything better than this, but never have dared to form a party and put a ticket in the field upon that issue and seek votes for it from any except rabid annerbists. It is to be heped that no man, be he ever so much dissatisfied with the old parties, orever so much in accord with the theory advanced by Bellamy, will be duped into voting for and supporting this "wolf in sheep's clothing," and if that better, the trail of the serpent is upon it, and no man who believes in law and order, loves good government, has the welfare of his country, his family, the safety of his life and property at heart, and or an or should throw away his birthright, for such a poorly disguised mess of anarchist pottage. A deadlier poison than anarchy could not be disseminated among the restless and dissatisfied elements of society, and that Nationalists should have been bank booked into indorsing it and sending it broadcast, gives color to the charge that they are dreamers, cranks, semilunatics, theorists and rainbow chasers. The fitted of the charge that they are dreamers, cranks, semilunatics, theorists and rainbow chasers. that they are dreamers, cranks, semi-lunatics, theorists and rainbow while calling upon the Government to take charge of all the means of production and distribution, they provide for the disarming of that same Government, and rendering, it powerless to take care of it. No government can or ever has existed without force. It must be at hand in case of need, and a government without the means to en-force law and order would be indeed a

Do not forget that the Nationalist platform process to abolish the government by taking room it the means to protect itself.

The counties of Los Angeles and Orange, which together had only 33,381 inhabitants in 1889, have 114,971 now, an increase of over 200 per cent. San Bernardino has increased 230 per cent.

-:- FASHION NOTES. -:-

NEVER in the history of this house has so much thought, time and expense been so willingly given to the purchase of Fall Goods as there has been this season. Iwo buyers sought the market this Autumn, and have given their undivided attention to the purchases. We can say no labor nor pains have been spared in accomplishing our one object, and that was to give the ladies of this community an equal chance with their sisters on the Atlantic Coast of having the pick and choice of the Novelties in Dry Goods. We didn't rush in the Market and buy any and everything, and pay large prices, but simply worked and used our brains in selections. If you buy too early you don't get the Choicest Novelties, and you pay too much. Don't, Ladies, be in a hurry to buy, for you will surely repent at your leisure unless you have visited our house. We are sure to please you with style, quality and price. This is no idle talk; but you can't afford to purchase anything until you visit us. Our Novelties are Select in Style and Texture. Our prices are lower than ever. For two reasons we claim this: First-It is our aim to handle a larger quantity than ever; Second-We have bought our Goods as low as cash would purchase, and we had the Market and Cash to command only the lowest prices from the importer.

Rough Stuffs, in Mixed, Plain and Plaids, have the preference in everything in Woolen Goods. Plushes especially are to be used in a variety of forms in Trimmings. Astrachans are affected in many ways for Trim-Velvet Embroidered are used for Gigot Sleeves, Black Grounds with Colored Figures have the preference. Plain Velvets and Velveteens are used extensively. Fringes and hand-made Silk Trimmings, with and without Cut Beads, are very popular, and the best Styles are scarce. We are showing a large line in Scotch, English and French Plaids in Serges and Plain Cloths. Broadcloths are more popular than ever for Tailor-made Costumes. In Plain Goods, Henriettas, Serges and Whip Cords have the sway for light materials, while for Rough effects, Cheviots, Home Spuns and Aldine Suitings have come to the front for Street Dresses. English Corduroys are all the rage for Traveling and Carriage Dresses, and are affected by the Bon-Ton classes. Cloakings are shown in Rough effects.

Now, a few words about Black Goods: As in the Colored Goods, rough effects, such as Home Spuns, Cheviots, Camel's Hair, are the correct styles. For Black Goods in smooth effects, we are showing Broadcloths, English Cloths, Serges, Whip Cords, Broad Wales, Plaids, Stripes, Rip Reversible Cords, Henriettas, Rayestines, Biarritz and Sebastopol. We have many new things in Silk and Woolen Goods to mention, but our space forbids. Come and see these Handsome Goods, and don't buy until you have visited our elegant stock. Remember! Quality superb. Quantity largest. Prices lowest.

After supper the committee and many citizens called on him at the hotel with a brass band. Markham hotel with a brass band. Markham was taken in a carriage to Armory Hail, which was decorated with bunting, flags and flowers. On entering the hall Judge Bush proposed three cheers for Markham, which were given with a vim. Edward Sweeney, chairman of the County Central Committee, called the meeting to order. Judge Bell presided as chairman. Markham enlarged somewhat on his remarks herectofore made, paying the Republican papers a comof $150,000.

Col. Markham also secured an appropriation for deepening the channel and preliminary surveys of the breakwater at San Diego harbor, Newport harbor, and San Luís Obispo. These preliminary surveys were the basis of all the appropriations since made for the improvement of the harbors of this coast, and up to the time Col. Markham urged and obtained them nothing worthy of mention in that line had been accomplished. One of the estimates for deepening the channel at San Diego harbor under this survey was from four to five millions of dollars.

TO THE PUBLIC. First. The strike was not on accoun of wages, hours of labor, lack of prompt payment, or any personal grievance.

Second. The proprietors of the four daily papers had had under consideration the question of retrenchment in their several establishments, and agreed unanimously in laying before the Typographical Union, for consideration, the question of a slight reduction in rates of composition-not, however, presenting any ultimatum. The union arbitrarily refused any concession, and on the 4th of August made a stand-and-deliver demand upon the proprietors to sign, within twenty-four hours, a contract maintaining existing rates for the period of one year. The proprietors, believing that to comply would be unmanly and degrading, refused to sign. The strike followed within twenty-four hours, being formally put into force at 5 o'clock on the afternoon of August 5th, though the men employed on THE TIMES had actually stopped work several hours before. The proprietors rallied and got out their papers without missing an issue, though much crippled for the time being.

Third. The union strikers having voluntarily abandoned good situations on The Times and the Herald, and locked themselves out, the proprietors had no alternative left but to fill their places permanently, which they have done.

Fourth. The force employed by THE TIMES are members of the Printers' Protective Fraternity, a rival organized-labor body. AFTER A SWORDFISH.

"GLORIOUS" FISHING TRIP IN THE BAY OF FUNDY.

Waves Like the Coney Island Tobogga Slide-The Correspondent "Siled His Garment"-In the Tail of a Storm-The

I had longed to go swordfishing all my I had longed to go swordfishing all my life. I knew the creature was flavorous, gamy and good, for I had eaten savory bits of him brolled. I knew that he carried on his pugnacious snout a sword of polished ivory as lively as an Italian's stiletto and as heavy as King Arthur's excaliber. I knew he would fight like a cowboy, and was from eight to fifteen feet long. So I wanted to go after him, or I foolishly thought I did. I was talking in this way on a pile of stone they called a wharf when a skipper spoke up and says:

tooishly thought I did. I was talking in this way on a pile of stone they called a wharf when a skipper spoke up and says: "Yon goes a feller after 'em. W'y don't you go along 'er 'im'?"

He blew on his fingers a shrill pipe—one long blast and two short—as a signal, and received a similar answering horn. The sails luffed, the sloop hove to and came around, and my whistling agent put me aboard from his own dory.

ON BOARD THE SLOOP.

The sloop tacked again and laid herself right down before the wind. It seemed nice. Each wave was about as long as the sloop, and rolled up from toward Spain. It seemed like the corduroy toboggam slide at Coney Island. It suggested going to heaven in a hammock. We introduced ourselves. The skipper's name, I had been told, was Hallibut, but after I had called him by it about a hundred times I found out that it was Hurlbut. He was at the helm and held the reins. Another mans stood on a little platform about thirty feet up the mast, and it was his business to discover little platform about thirty feet up the mast, and it was his business to discover the fish and tell the captain which way to steer. A third man was standing right out on the end of the bowsprit with a harpoon in his right hand, a sharp, ugly looking steel weapon six or seven feet long. "This is glorious!" I shouted.

whistling wind.

"Glorious" I repeated.

"Tail of a storm," he shouted back,
"sha'n't git no fish." "sha'n't git no fish."

I went over where he stood. There were two vessels like our own a little distance off, with men in the crosstrees and on the

The captain tacked, and as the boom came around yelled out, "'K out for your head!" I looked out for it, and then I observed for the first time that he seemed in trouble. He was swearing in a low, gentle baritone voice uninterruptedly, mildly, with quite a surprising range of epithet with quite a surprising range of epithet and of metaphor. It was the most serene profanity I had ever heard. It had wheedling and even pathetic accents, like a Newfoundland dog that is being petted.

"What is it, sir?" I ventured to ask.
"That infernal son of a sculpin on the lee quarter stole a flsh fm me yiste'day," said he in the same subdued voice. "I'd like to whale 'em so't he couldn't stan'," and then he blasphemed again in a foolish and ridiculous voice. and ridiculous voice. "Did he take it right off the deck?"

He cast a withering glance at me, swore a little and remarked: "He did not, but he might just as well uv. It was my fish. It wan't more'n ten rod ahead uv us, and we wuz jest a goin' to gather 'im."

I said I "never considered a deer mine till I'd shot him."
"RIGHT OFF'M HIS DECK." He grunted five or six times in a way that was sad to see, embroidering that utthat was sad'to see, embroidering that ut-terance with an arabesque of profanity quite dazzling to hear, and added: "Hui a deer! Well he might git away I'm ye, mightn't he? An'a swordish couldn't git away I'm me, could he? That's the differ-ence, ain't it? Just as soon that white livered measly cuss had took it right off'm my deck."

rigging.
"Hello!" said the captain in a surprised way, and put his helm a-port. The sloop listed to the leeward, and the man on the bow held up his harpoon at arm's length and gazed anxiously down into the water. A writhing convulsion—chug—the sharp iron had left his hand and gone into the iron had left his hand and gone into the sea. The rope rattled after, the sloop came around into the wind, a boat was tossed over the guards by a man and a boy, and the chase began.

Answering my inquiries the skipper said: "He'll run till he tires out, then he'll come to the surface, and they will haul him up to the boat, knock him in the head with an ax and pull him aboard—if they are strong enough. If he's too big they'll tow'm over here."

We were almost out of sight of land. The sloop was running a hurdle race, jumping over waves as high as a house. She pitched fearfully and she rolled awfully. Tobogganing was tiring me out. It suggested going in a hammock to the other place. My stomach was queesy. "When are we going ashore?" I asked. "When we get some fish," said the skip-per. "This is glorious."

I stood up a minute longer heroically, and then I calmly lay down in the bottom of the vessel—in my white flannels, oh, beloved reader! in my white flannels. It was wet, and mackerel had apparently just been shoveled out of it, but I did not care. I was indifferent as to what became of my

We got ashore some time toward night, and after lying on a pile of boards for a couple of hours I got so that I could stand up and even speak a few words.

Seeing the Infant fiend passing up the street in the gloaming I asked him if they got the swordfish.

"No, sir," he said. "Didn't ye know he got away I'm us and took the harpoon? That's what made the cap'n so all-fired mad coming home!"

New York World. A Man Who Ate Iron.

In The British Magazine for 1746 there is an account of Reeves Williams, a native of Cardigan, calling himself "the Man Os-Cardigan, calling himself "the Man Ostrich." He performed various gastronomic feats before the public, who paid sixpence each to witness the edifying spectacle. He first swallowed four pieces of iron, each an inch and a quarter long and three-quarters of an inch thick. Then he swallowed by way of dessert and with apparent relish, stones, coach nails, halfpence and other trifles.

While a roofer was at work on the roof of a school at Greenville, L. I., the other day he was overcome by the heat and rolled down the roof and over the edge. His suspender strap caught on a hook in the roof gutter and kept him from fall-ing to the ground. He hung in mid air until his fellow workmen rescued him.

Dr. George F. Root, the composer of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!" and a hundred other famous songs, celebrated the seventieth anniversary of his birth in Chicago recently. He wrote the famous song on the morning following Lincoln's second call for troops.

Not Eager to Save Life. Every season regularly some event happens on the Norman or Breton coast which brings into relief the apathy and indifference of the bathing box owners when any of their customers have the misfortune to be in danger while swimming. This time the perilous adventure of M. Edmond Haraucourt, poet and dramatist, is a case in point. M. Haraucourt, while swimming lately, was carried a long distance away from the shore

The waves were running high at the time, and everybody gave the swimmer up as lost. His mother and friends who up as lost. His mother and friends who were watching him battling for life with the surge begged and implored the owner of the bathing boxes to send out a boat to the rescue. This the man refused to do steadfastly, alleging that, as there was no chance of saving M. Haraucourt's life, it was useless to run the risk of having the boat dashed against the rocks. In the meantime, thanks to his strength and skill as a swimmer, M. Haraucourt was enabled to get near the foot of the cliff, where he was thrown by the surge on the shore, which he had not hoped to reach again alive.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Transpacific Cable. The Colonies and India, of London, says that "the breaking of the Austra-lian cables and the consequent cutting off of those colonies from communica off of those colonies from communica-tion with the outer world for several days emphasizes in the strongest possi-ble way the necessity of constructing an alternative cable across the Pacific ocean between British Columbia and Sydney or Brisbane. The lesson will no doubt not be lost upon our Australian cousins. It is said that her majesty's government has decided not to share in the guaran has decided not to share in the guarantee the companies require in order to effect the proposed reductions in the existing cable rates, and it was hardly expected that it would do so. It might, however, view with greater favor the laying of the new line, and the subsidies the colonies are now asked to give for perpetuating for a time the monopoly of the old line, with assistance from Can-ada and from the imperial government, would, it is believed, permit of arrange-ments being made for the construction of the Pacific cable, and probably insure a reduced tariff by both lines."

Preserved in a Salt Mine.

In a salt mine near Hermannstadt, in Hungary, which had for many years been full of water and was visited by tourists on account of its great depth and its repeating echo, a recent heavy rainfall raised the water to an extraordinary height. Recently a number of dead bodies appeared on the surface, and they were taken out, with considerable danger to those who undertook the task. They were found to be the bodies of Hungarian Honveds, 300 of whom fell in the battle of Vis Akma on the 4th of February, 1849, and instead to being buried were thrown into the salt lake of the mine. The bodies are so well preserved that the wounds which caused death may be seen quite plainly. Two of the bodies are headless.—Cor. London News. dinary height. Recently a number of London News.

COUNT TOLSTOPS BOOK

persons who were arrested for violating the lay by peddling the book. Judge Thayer's opinion is that the book is not immoral, that its language is chaste and its motive good, and that it cannot be legally suppressed.

The learned jurist said in part, "Count Tolstoi's 'Kreutzer Sonata' may contain very foolish and absurd views on marriage; it may shock our ideas of the sanctity and nobility of that important relation, but it cannot on that account be called an obscene "Lell you what Japa" said he to be ca that important relation, but it cannot on that account be called an obscene libel. There is no obscenity in it. On the contrary, it denounces obscenity of every description on almost every page. Nor can the language in which he expresses his ideas be said to be, in any proper sense, obscene, lewd or indecent."

Mr. McLachlan's Candidacy. From what could be learded yesterday evening from the delegates themselves Mr. McLachlan's chances for receiving the nomination of District Attorney are very good. The Pasadena delegation will cast a solid vote for him first, last and all the time and strong support will be given him from other queriers other quarters.

Should the convention see fit to honor Mr. McLachlan with the nomination, Pasadenians generally would feel greatly gratified. Besides being eminently capable of assuming the responsibilities of the position, Mr. McLachlan has been an untiring worker in the party service. His name would add materially to the ticket's strength. If Pasadens can not have a superior. If Pasadona can not have a superior judge, she at least should be entitled to the District Attorneyship.

NOTES AND COMMENT. Mr. McLachla stands a good show of winning. Those who are best in a position to know say so. We have it from a Democratic exchange that Buckley is keeping his hands off the party machine. That is probably because he has it under his Great Demand for the "Kreutzer Sonata" — Mr. McLachlan's Candidacy—Personals and Brevitles.

Since Postmaster Wanamaker excluded Toistois "Kreutzer Sonata" from the mails, that work is having a wonderful sale in Pasadena as well as in every other city in the country. The book dealers display it in most conspicuous places in all kinds of editions and they find it difficult to keep even with the demand.

One of the dealers told The Times reporter yesterday that a large percentage of the purchasers are of the fair sex, who have doubtless been led to a perusal of the book out of mere curiosity.

It is interesting to note in connection with the "Kreutzer Sonata" that the criticism of Dr. Channing as published in these columns some time ago, bears a close resemblance to the decision recently rendered by Judge Thayer of Philadelphia, who disoharged four Days went on and the finger grew worse rather than better, until at last it reached such a state that the doctor was called. He had not been in the room fifteen minutes when Farmer Jenks summoned his

"Jane," said he, "come here; come right here! What do you s'pose he says?"

"We'll, I guess by the way you're smilin' he says it's all right," said she, also beginning to smile in relief. "I must say I am glad! Your forefinger, and on the right hand! It didn't seem to me I could be reconciled if it had to come off."

"But that's just it," interrupted her husband, still smiling in triumph and looking at her with sparkling eyes. "It's got to come off, and I told you so!"—Youth'r Companion.

What the Pneumatoscope Will Do.

A well known Chicago physician has invented an instrument which is calculated to make a stir in the medical, profession as soon as its virtues and superb qualities are made known. It is aptly namel a pneumatoscope, and it does in a wonderful manner what its inventor claims for it. He is confident that it will supplant the stethoscope, which until now has had no rival. It is made of tin, in the form of the hour glass, being really two cones connected at glass, being really two cones connected at their apexes by a tube as large as one's lit-tle finger, thus forming a continuous

At the other end is a broad rubber mouthpiece, an inch or more in diameter. When the patient breathes into the instrument, the sound being greatly magnified, the physician is able to reach a most accurate diagnosis, as diately manifest, as, in reality, the pulsations of the lungs and heart may be most accurately determined, and the conditions of these organs reached through the in-tensified magnifying of the sound.—New York Telegram.

A Novel Letter Box.

It would be of great convenience to many Pasadenians if they would adopt a style of letter box which an ingenious Yankee has just invented. Its operation is very simple. A door on the eration is very simple. A door on the box is opened, disclosing a small car in which the mail is placed. When the door is shut a bell is rung at the door of the residence. A member of the house opens this door, pulls a string and the car is shot swiftly along a wire running from the letter box to the rear door. The mail is thus placed in the hands of one of the family without the necessity of anyone walking out the necessity of anyone walking more than two or three steps. Such a box would facilitate the work of the carriers as well as convenience the mail recipients.

A Second Chautauqua Circle. A second Chautauqua Circle is being organized in town. This time it is composed of ladies living on the west side of the town, and who propose to most every Saturday afternoon to pursue the Chautauquan course of reading. Those who have already signified their intention of joining are Mesdames Ellen A. Foster, Robards, Mayer, George H. Mitchell, J. W. Sargent, A. H. Cohger and Miss Elma F. Ball.

Other names are being added to the A Quiet Day. If any one can point to a quieter day n Pasadena than was yesterday we politicians were away at the conven-tion and the young people and others somewhat older were at the circus. Business was generally dull and news very scare. Conventions and circuses have their drawbacks.

What a Can of peaches Did.
A three-pound can of peaches was the cause of one Easterner ettling here recently. One day while inspect-ing the contents of a grecery stere his eye was attracted by a can of California peaches. He purchased it, and was delighted with the quality of the fruit. The label told him it came from Pasadena, and he forthwith journeyed hither, on the supposition that a place that could raise such peaches would be good enough to live in. He is not sorry he came. Teachers' Institute Tomorrow.

Honest competition in trade never suffers.

Truthful assertions by merchants abound to their credit, while willful misrepresentation, coupled with a lot of fuss and feathers, does the advertiser much harm. Our Drug sale, which is now going on, at prices that are and shall be the lowest ever named, has created a further sensation in the Union has created a further sensation in the Union Druggists' ring. The renegade in their midst who had the audacity to put forth a few articles at somewhere near right prices—but yet too high—has caused great displeasure to the balance of the Drug merchants. Yet things in the Mr. Black pet scheme are yet going on. We see no just or good reason for it. Druggist, why stick to prices unattainable? Better take a smaller profit than none. Better sell a smaller profit than none. Better sell a quantity of Drugs at a lower percentage of gain than to see other firms doing the trade. All we desire is to see this union scheme of prices abandoned. Buy your goods where Mr. Black buys them and sell them at as low a price as he does; it pays him; why should it not you? We desire it under-stood that we do not, nor ever have, tried to usurp the trade of anyone. If our prices are right, and by this reason the trade flocks to us, we accept the compliment with thanks. This is the basis on which our business is built: Low rates, large trade
